TALK OF BUYING CHEMICAL ENGINE

Town Councilmen and Firemen Have a Conference Regarding Purchase of Additional Apparatus for Local Department.

At a conference held by members of the town council and the fire company, and a representative of the American LaFrance Fire Engine Company, on Tuesday evening the question of the purchase of a chemical engine for Gettysburg was discussed at length.

The great amount of damage done by water at the Prep fire in June, and the difficulty of getting water on the Seminary building several weeks ago, have brought the necessity of some additional apparatus to the attention of local authorities and some steps are to be taken in the very near future.

Fire Chief Wierman stated at Tuesday evening's conference that he felt something should be secured quickly.
A committee was appointed some months ago to look into the matter of securing an automobile fire engine, but it is a big proposition and will require considerable time to get to maturity. As a result Mr. Wierman thought some immediate steps should be taken to give the town better protection. Members of Council agreed with him.

The representative of the dealer stated that Gettysburg's needs would be met, he thought, by the purchase of a two wheel, double tank, 35 gallon machine, to be drawn by hand and to cost about $620. He stated that such a machine could be gotten quickly to fires and prevent small fires from becoming large ones while, in cases where the blaze had already reached large proportions, it could be used to prevent a spread to other structures.

The fire at the farm of W. L. Glat-felter, near Spring Grove, several weeks ago was cited. Here the large barn burned but, in spite of terrific heat, every other building was saved.
The one chemical tank was recharged while the other was in action, a total of seventy charges being made during the progress of the fire. Spring Grove has the type of chemical recommended and Littlestown had it for a number of years, recently having had a motor truck built for it.

In further argument for a chemical apparatus it was stated that in York seventy five per cent of the fires are extinguished with chemicals and that in the past five years not one steamer has done three hours' work a year.
The chemicals may be used in doors without fear of damaging furniture or carpets, as the residue may be swept up like salt after the liquid has dried.

Councilmen regarded the entire proposition in a favorable light and it is probable that definite action will be taken in the very near future.

Tuesday evening was the regular night for the September meeting of council but there was no quorum present and no business was transacted.

WILL RAISE RATE

Carlisle Fair Association Must Get in More Revenue.

The management of the Agricultural Society of Cumberland County, owing to bad seasons in succession and the destruction by fire of all their stabling entailing a loss of over $3000, on which there was no insurance, has raised the single rate of admission to 50 cents, all other rates to remain the same as heretofore. This increase in the rates was made most reluctantly and was only done when the need had become imperative.

The Association has lost heavily during the last two years by the bad weather during the continuance of the Fair and by the loss of the stabling and the question of abandoning the Fair was seriously considered. The alternative that presented itself was to increase the revenues of the Association by increasing the rate of admission or to sell the grounds and buildings for the purpose of liquidating the indebtedness.

CATHOLIC TEAM WINS PENNANT

Trim St. James on Third Attempt and Come through Undeclared.
Second Inning Proves Lutherans' Downfall. Big Crowd.

Closing their season with a clean sheet, the Catholics triumphed over St.
James Tuesday evening before a large crowd and captured the pennant for 1913. Their unbroken string of victories was completed with the defeat which they handed their keenest rivals by the score of 4 to 1. Collection $11.58.

Enthusiasm was at high pitch from the time the first ball was thrown to the last out and the five or six hundred rooters were almost as much in the game as the players. Cheering was incessant and the game, following the two drawn contests of earlier in the season, was up to the expectations of everybody present.

The Catholics presented their regular line-up with the exception of Wisotzkey pitching for Joe Stock and the latter taking Wisotzkey's place at third. The change proved a good one for St. James batters had considerably more trouble than in the two preceding games. For St. James Sachs was on first and Zinn on second, for the first time this year. Gentzler played third and Patterson was in the field.

St. James scored their only tally in the first. Patterson was out, Joe Stock to Kimple. McDonnell hit safely and took second on a passed ball, going to third on Zinn's out. Oylar to Kimple, and scoring when Swisher muffed Gentzler's fly back of short.
Hartzell sent a fast one over the third bag good for two bases but Taughinbaugh was out, Oylar to Kimple. Two hits, one run.

In the Catholics' half, Swope sent an easy grounder to Zinn who juggled it and he was safe at first. A minute later he was caught stealing second.
Charles Stock struck out and Joe Stock sent a high fly to Taughinbaugh.

In the second Wisotzkey had hit his pace and struck out McClell, Wright and Sachs in order. Rosensteel opened for the victors by getting to first on a dropped third strike. Kimple sent a single over third and John Wisotzkey rapped out a clean two bagger, scoring Rosensteel and Kimple. Swisher took first when his hot one went through Gentzler. Oylar and Paul Stock struck out and it looked as though further scoring would be prevented. Swope sent a grounder to Zinn who fumbled it but recovered in time to throw to Sachs. The throw was a trifle low and Sachs dropped it, Wisotzkey and Swisher crossing the plate.
Charles Stock lined out a hot one over second but McDonnell was on the job and the side was out. Two hits, four runs.

St. James looked good for a score in the third. After Patterson had struck out McDonnell got to first when Charles Stock muffed his fly. Zinn was hit by a pitched ball but McDonnell was caught trying to pilfer third.
Gentzler flied out to Joe Stock and the chance was gone.

In the Catholics' half Joe Stock got a clean hit and stole second. Rosensteel flied out to McClell. Stock stole third and Kimple struck out, a spectator tossing a half dollar for the feat to Hartzell in the pitcher's box. Wisotzkey was out, McClell to Sachs. One hit, no runs.

St. James again looked dangerous in the fourth. Hartzell drew a pass, took second on a passed ball and was sacrificed to third on Taughinbaugh's out, Joe Stock to Kimple. McClell got his base on balls. Wright fouled out to Joe Stock and Hartzell was caught at home when he tried to go in on a ball dropped by Swope.

The Catholics' half was short.
Swisher and Oylar were both out.
Hartzell to Sachs and Paul Stock flied out to Taughinbaugh who made a pretty one handed catch.

After Sachs had struck out in the fifth and Patterson was out Joe Stock to Kimple, McDonnell hit safely over second, stole second and third but John Zinn struck out and the game was over. One hit, no runs.

There is now some talk of St. James and the Presbyterians playing off the tie for second place and College and Methodists announce that they will play off their tie Thursday evening.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS

County People Meet with Painful Injuries in Various Accidents in Different Townships. All are Recovering.

Many Adams County persons have met with misfortunes during the past few days but under the careful attention of their physicians all are now on a fair way to recovery.

Child Scalded.
Guy Franklin, the 19-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brown, of New Oxford, was painfully scalded.
The mother had placed a tin-cup of boiling water on a table, and as she turned to attend to some other duties the child climbed upon a chair and getting hold of the cup over-turned the contents upon himself. The right side of his face, neck, breast and body were scalded terribly. Under the care of a local physician the child is rapidly improving.

Kicked by Mule
Adam Wolf, of Reading township, was the victim of a painful injury, a few days ago. Mr. Wolf was clipping a mule's tail when it suddenly began kicking, the hoofs of the animal striking the gentleman in the side and on the leg, inflicting painful injuries, but fortunately breaking no bones. Mr.
Wolf is now confined to his bed and is under the care of Dr. Elgin, of East Berlin.

Cut in Head
John R. Kuhn, Esq., of East Berlin, whose eyesight is somewhat defective, was walking over his pine hill, near that place, a few days ago, and while in the act of stepping across a gutter, missed his footing and fell headfore-most, badly bruising and cutting a gash on the top of his head that required six stitches to close. Dr. Elgin gave the necessary attention.

Injured by Fall
Paul, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson Mummert, residing on the Himes farm, near New Oxford, met with a painful accident. The child was at play about the yard when he tripped and fell, striking some object, cutting a gash over the top of the head that required a number of stitches to close.

Injured in Fall
Mrs. Jacob Markle, of near Irish-town, met with a painful accident one day recently. Mrs. Markle was carrying a crock of milk to the cellar when she tripped and fell in the yard and, in falling, struck the edge of the crock fracturing the right breast bone from which she suffers much pain.

TRIED TO SWIM RIVER
Companions Unable to Save John Stover in Potomac River.

Added information has been received concerning the drowning of John Stover at Washington on Monday. He, with a number of companions, had started to swim across the Potomac River at a point where it is about 500 feet in width. He was the last of the party and when one of the others looked about, after they had gone some distance, he was seen to throw up his hands. They hurried back but could not help him. The body was recovered soon afterward.

It will be brought to Gettysburg and the funeral will be held from the home of his aunt, Mrs. James Caldwell, on Chambersburg street, Thursday morning at 10:30 with interment in Evergreen Cemetery. Simon P. Stover, of near Seven Stars, is an uncle of the boy, not his grandfather as first stated in these columns.

L. T. L. MEETING
County Temperance Workers to Meet

A meeting of the Adams County Loyal Temperance Legion will be held on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mary E. Greist.
All those who have taken the L. T. L. course of study are members and are asked to be present.

GRANGE MEETING
Adams County Grangers to Hold Meeting at Arendtsville.

The Adams County Pomona Grange will meet at Arendtsville Saturday evening, September 6th. All are urged to attend.

MANY FARMERS WANT ADVICE

State Counsellors, well Known here, Report that they Have Large Numbers of Requests for Information from Farmers.

Soils, drainage and co-operation are three topics in which the farmers of the State are showing a marked interest, according to the State farm advisors at their first annual conference held at the Capitol Tuesday. Prof.
Franklin Menges, of York, and I. W.
Lighty, of East Berlin, are on the corps.

The counsellors, who have been in the field just one month, were summoned to the Capitol by Director A.
L. Martin, for a general interchange of views. Each reported that he had from three to four weeks' engagements ahead and that farmers were sending letters to their homes as well as to the Capitol asking for visits.

"The reports received indicate that the advisors have been received everywhere with open arms and the act of 1913, which gives farmers in the field the benefits of practical talks and advice from men schooled in experience, has been commended more than anything done for the farmers in recent years," said Director Martin.

"There is interest in every branch of work in which we are giving instruction, but the problems of soils is taking a prominent place and drainage of lands is another, both being branches which are highly important to agriculture."

The advisors are: R. P. Kester and Franklin Menges, soils and crops; Dr.
M. E. Connard and I. W. Lighty, dairying; W. Theo. Wittman and Frank Kline, poultry; G. C. McLain, water and drainage; S. W. Funk, market gardening and fruits; E. B. Borsett, co-operation; Jean Kane Foulke, home economics.

Each one made a report on the topic and it is the plan to push the work throughout the winter so that farmers may have the advantage of expert advice in outlining next year's work.

THOMPSON QUILTS Confirms Report that He Resigned As Coach.

Michael J. Thompson has severed his connection with the Mount St.
Mary's College as coach. He is now in New York City keeping business engagements relative to the coming football season.

There are several reasons assigned by Thompson for resigning as athletic head of the institution. His effort in every line of sport at the Emmitsburg college produced great results, and he was instrumental in staging the first set of track and field games ever held there. Yet he felt that he was being hindered in his work because the faculty would not agree to allow the athletes to remain over night in a town where the men would have to compete the next day.

He stated: "I found a fine bunch of athletic talent at the college when I went there, and the first set of games held proved successful. Yet, when I wanted to bring the athletes to Baltimore and Washington meets I was told to go ahead if it were possible to have the men go without remaining out of the college at night. This, of course, was an impossible feat and I became discouraged. In other branches of sport I was heartily supported."

great credit for his untiring efforts to increase the efficiency of the local

THINGS THAT ALMOST HAPPEN

Steamboat Captain Tells Why His Hair Is Nearly White, Though He Never Had an Accident.

"It is the things that almost happen which cause gray hairs in this business rather than the things that actually occur," said a veteran captain of an excursion boat to a New York Sun man.

"When I was thirty-three years old I was running a boat to Coney Island. On one occasion, in the lower bay, fog settled down thicker than mush. I held a compass course and everything went smoothly enough until it was almost time to change the course and head from the bay toward Coney. I had heard a boat—by its whistle I knew it was a towing tug—pass me further up the bay.

"Even though I could not see the bow of my boat, I was hanging with my head out of the pilot house window and straining my eyes to see, when my quartermaster, who was standing on the very peak of the bow, called for me to reverse. I rang for full speed astern and threw the wheel hard to port.

"The fog lifted for an instant and dead ahead of me I saw a scow with 'Dynamite' written on its side and a red flag floating above it. I kept the wheel hard over and it seemed to me the engineer was an eternity in getting the engine reversed. We just grazed the scow. I learned afterward that it had been in tow of a tug and that the bawser broke and the tug crew had lost sight of the scow in the fog.

"When I got home that night my wife pointed out a gray hair—the first I had ever had.

"In all my experience I've never had a serious accident, but as you see I have a head full of gray hairs caused by things that almost happened."

Upstairs Backward.

Walking upstairs backward is urged by a London physician as a useful practice in cases of heart weakness and as helping in a more equal distribution of muscular wear and tear.

"Firstly and most important," he says, "walking upstairs backward would prevent any tendency to hurry. No matter how inveterate a 'stair rush' a man might be, he would have to moderate his pace if going backward. This enforced deliberation would, of course, be of great value in heart disease. The second effect would be to relieve the strain from the ordinary walking and climbing muscles (those on the front of the thigh) and to press into service those on the back of the leg, which ordinarily do no work in climbing stairs. The total result, therefore, might be a saving in muscular wear and tear through a more economical distribution of effort. This, of course, would also be of value in cases of heart weakness."

26 DEAD, 40 HURT IN R. R. WRECK

Express Crashes Into Wooden Pullmans on Train.

BRAKES FAILED TO WORK

Accident Occurred During a Fog Near New Haven, Conn.—Several Victims From Philadelphia.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 3.—Twenty-six persons lost their lives and forty were injured when the White Mountain express, bound for New York, crashed into the rear end of the second section of the Bar Harbor limited, bearing sojourners from Maine summer resorts. The wreck occurred on the New Haven railroad just outside the city limits.

Failure to see a block signal veiled in a thick fog is given as the cause of the accident by Engineer A. B. Miller, who says that as soon as he realized the danger he did all he could to stop the train. The brakes would not hold on the wet track and the train, running down grade, ploughed its way through two wooden Pullman cars, splintered them to kindling and killed or wounded most of the sleeping passengers in their berths. The bodies of most of the victims were mangled.

A party of boy campers, sixty-five in number, returning from "Camp Coblessee," at Monmouth, Me., were in a Pullman car which was overturned. Two of these boys, William Altschul, of Norfolk, Va., and Albert Green, of New York, were killed.

The latest list of dead is as follows: Miss Maria Stockton Bullitt, Miss Harriet Biddle, S. Crozer Fox, Robert M. Yahn, Daniel N. McQuillen, Miss Emily K. Davis, all of Philadelphia. William Altschul, Norfolk, Va. Harold Avery, New York. Frank Butler, Scranton, Pa. Albert Green, New York. R. A. Hotchkiss, New Haven, Conn. Philo Hotchkiss, brother of R. A. Hotchkiss.

Harry Imar, a Japanese, New York. H. F. Martin, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Miss Agnes White, Boston. Mary Jane ——— (no last name), Hartford, Conn. Margaret Armstrong, Washington. Albert Freed, New York. George Koga, New York.

Five bodies are unidentified. The bodies of some of the dead were found fifty feet away in the fields. Some of the dead and injured were huried to New Haven, Wallingford and Meriden. Many of them were taken in trolley cars.

Both trains were heavily laden with returning excursionists. They were running behind time through the heavy fog.

The Bar Harbor limited had stopped in the block, but the last car of the long train was just on the edge of the block limits. The signals had cleared and the express had gotten under a slight headway when the White Mountain express came along. The engineer of the latter was unable to stop his locomotive and crashed completely through two of the sleepers on the Bar Harbor train and knocked the next sleeper over the embankment.

The shock of the collision was so terrific that linen and bed clothing from the berths in the sleepers was swept out of the broken windows and carried to the telegraph wires and poles nearby, where it still hung when the wrecking trains arrived.

The White Mountain express was scarcely scratched by the collision. It proceeded on its way after a few hours delay.

All the passengers were in their berths and in their night clothes, making identification of the dead difficult.

The engineer of the White Mountain express stuck to his post until the last moment and was only slightly hurt. The two sleepers which were crushed were a mass of splinters a few minutes after the accident. The locomotive ran on top of the wreckage and remained almost upright for a considerable time.

The collision occurred on a straight stretch of track, but the fog was very dense at the time.

HALE WILL REPORT ON MEXICAN TASK

To Tell Wilson of Own Mission and Lind's Reception.

Washington, Sept. 3.—William Bayard Hale, who has been in Mexico on a special mission for the government, will arrive in Washington today and report to President Wilson at once.

Mr. Hale will tell of developments since John Lind reached the Mexican capital with Mr. Wilson's proposals of peace.

Unofficial reports reached Washington that Mr. Lind, who has been at Vera Cruz since the rejection by the Huerta government of the American proposals, would return to the United States within a few days. No confirmation of this could be procured at the state department.

Secretary of State Bryan said with relation to the report, just before leaving for a lecture engagement at York, Pa., that he knew nothing of such an intention on Mr. Lind's part.

"I had a message from Mr. Lind," said the secretary, "but it did not concern his movements. As to the Mexican situation, it can be said that matters look encouraging."

One source of encouragement to Mr. Bryan was the action of the house appropriations committee in recommending in the deficiency bill the $100,000 asked for by the secretary to meet the expense of bringing American citizens from Mexico.

WOMAN MADE HIM STEAL

Oil City Churchman Sent to Penitentiary After Confessing Her Influence.

Franklin, Pa., Sept. 3.—J. Garfield Lytle, a married man of good family, and a member of the Presbyterian church of Oil City, confessed in court that, blackmailed by a woman, he had stolen $10,200 from his employers.

Lytle was sentenced to not less than one year in the western penitentiary. The story as told by two attorneys was that he had fallen under the influence of the woman, who demanded that he steal. By padding the payroll he took from $25 to $50 a week, but finally his peculations amounted to $200 a week. In less than two years he stole $10,200.

The defendant's aged mother offered everything she had to make good the theft, but the company would not permit her to make the sacrifice.

GOVERNMENT SUES HARD COAL TRUST

Action Aimed at Reading Co. and Allied Interests.

HAS RIGID DISSOLUTION PLAN

Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Law and Commodities Clause of Interstate Commerce Act Is Alleged.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—The federal government has renewed its attack on the so-called anthracite trust. A suit filed here against the Reading and its affiliated companies, under the Sherman anti-trust law and the commodities clause, represents an effort on the part of the Wilson administration to take up this fight where it was dropped upon the retirement of President Taft and his attorney general.

There is, however, one feature that distinguishes this suit from the ones brought under the Taft administration, and which is a new departure in suits under the Sherman anti-trust law. Attorney General McReynolds, in his prayer to the court to break the Reading's control over the Central Railroad of New Jersey and other corporations, which he contends are engaged in a conspiracy against the Sherman anti-trust laws, asks that the Reading company be required to dispose of the capital stock of these corporations "to persons not its stockholders or agents, nor otherwise under its control or influence."

This means that Attorney General McReynolds intends to have settled in advance in this case the question that caused so much controversy in the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution case. The attorney general always has had a very strong feeling against the character of the dissolution permitted by the department of justice in the case of the Standard Oil company where a pro rata distribution of the stocks of the subsidiary companies was permitted among the stockholders of the parent concern.

Nine coal and transportation companies representing an investment of $609,637,394, are made defendants in the suit, together with President George F. Baer and the eight directors.

The companies are the Reading company, the Philadelphia & Reading Railway company, the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron company, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal company, the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, the Wilmington & Northern Railroad company, the Lehigh & Hudson River Railway company and the Lehigh & New England Railroad company.

It is set forth in the petition that the combination of railroads, coal companies and canal companies in the list of defendants control at the present time 63 per cent of the entire unmined deposits of anthracite coal, and market about 30 per cent of the annual supply. Its supply, it is asserted, will outlast by many years that of any supply now known.

In time, it is argued, this combination, if not dissolved, will own or control "every ton of commercially available anthracite known to exist." The importance of the case is emphasized by the statement that "only the law can afford relief."

It is pointed out that while in almost any other branch of industry it is at least possible for a monopoly to be broken by the influx of fresh capital attracted by high profits, there could be no protection against such a combination as it is alleged exists in years to come, when other known sources of anthracite coal shall have been consumed.

WOLGAST MAY QUIT RING

Defeated by Youngster, Former Champion Talks of Farming.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 3.—The pugilistic obituary of Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion is written on all the sporting pages, with the record of his defeat at Oakland, by Joe Azavedo, a green and nervous youngster, who won the decision at the end of ten rounds.

"What's the use of going any farther?" asks Wolgast. "I don't need to box for a living. I don't like these short fights and I would rather quit altogether than spend my time training and boxing around like a side show man."

He added that he was thinking of returning to his Oregon ranch and settling down as a farmer.

Rolls Out of Window to Death.

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—While sleeping at an open window at his home, Vincenzo Norando, of 4034 Cambridge street, rolled over and fell two stories to the street. He died a short time later in the Presbyterian hospital from a fractured skull. Norando was sleeping at the window with his head resting on the sill.

AVIATOR FLIES UPSIDE DOWN AGAIN

Duplicates Daring Feat For Benefit of Army Men.

Juvisy France, Sept. 3.—Aviator Pegoud repeated the daredevil feat of looping the loop in a monoplane. This time his exhibition was for the benefit of a commission of army officers belonging to the aviation corps, and again Pegoud flew for an eighth of a mile with his machine turned turtle, his head hanging down.

"It was a marvelous exhibition, but not in any sense a foolhardy one," M. Bleriot, maker of the monoplane used by Pegoud, said. "It demonstrated that we can build an aeroplane that will not capsize, that will maintain its equilibrium in any wind and that will right itself under almost any circumstances. We have reduced the dangers of aviation fully 75 per cent in my judgment."

As on the first occasion, Pegoud ascended to a height of about 3500 feet and then pointed his monoplane straight to earth, darting down like a hawk, with his engine going at full speed. He dropped to an altitude of 1300 feet and then steered a sudden upward course. The machine turned over and flew along upside down for a few seconds, when Pegoud righted the plane and landed. He was warmly congratulated by the army men.

WOMAN LEAPS INTO OCEAN

Two Bathers Swimming Nearby Drag Her to Shore in Safety.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3.—Leaping from the end of the Heinz pier, at Connecticut avenue, an unidentified woman made a dramatic attempt to end her life, but was saved by the luring of two bathers, who were swimming near the pier, and got to her before the life guards arrived in their boat.

The pier was crowded at the time, and there were hundreds of people on the boardwalk and beach, watching the bathers. Suddenly there came a piercing scream, and the startled crowd saw a woman's body hurtling through the air from the end of the pier. Dozens of chairs were tossed into the sea by persons who believed the woman would save herself.

Two men who were within 100 feet of the spot where the woman went in to the water, stroked frantically to her side, and after a battle overpowered her and got her safely ashore.

Dr. Charles Sinkinson, who was in charge of the hospital tent, immediately started working over her and gradually revived her. She was in a highly nervous condition and appeared to be crazed.

THAW'S FATE NOW RESTS WITH JUDGE

Court Reserves Decision in Habeas Corpus Case.

GOVERNMENT TAKES A HAND

Premier's Counsel Brands Fugitive's Detention a Scandal and Says Jail Is No Public Boarding Place.

Sherbrooke, Can., Sept. 3.—Harry K. Thaw came face to face with a new force in the province of Quebec. Sir Lomer Gouin attorney general and premier intervened in the cause through Alme Geoffrion, his special representative, and demanded that steps be taken at once to bring about Thaw's release from the Sherbrooke jail, where, for two weeks, the American has been detained.

Premier Gouin, through his representative branded Thaw's detention as "a scandal to the Dominion," urged sarcastically that the Sherbrooke jail was not "public boarding house," and described Thaw as one who had boasted that he laughed at outwitting the authorities.

M. Geoffrion and Samuel Jacobs, representing the state of New York, both appeared before Superior Judge Hutchison and pressed for an immediate hearing on the writ of habeas corpus obtained last week.

If the writ is sustained Thaw will probably be placed in the hands of the immigration authorities and deported. When arguments were ended the court reserved decision. "It is a matter of such grave importance," he said, "that I would not care to decide this matter until I have given it careful consideration."

"If he is not liberated on the writ," Mr. Geoffrion said, "other means will be taken. Thaw must not be harbored in a Canadian jail."

Thaw's face fell, and his lawyers, declaring that the writ was irregular, spoke in turn, pleading for adjournment until Friday.

"We must go on," said the court. "I represent the attorney general," said Mr. Geoffrion, "and it is of paramount importance that justice in this case move swiftly. Our jails are not public boarding houses. It is the attorney general's desire that this matter be settled instantly by the liberation of Mr. Thaw. The prisons of the province cannot be used to shield a man from the federal law."

Samuel Jacobs, appearing directly for Boudreau, the constable who arrested Thaw and later asked for the writ of habeas corpus, and indirectly for Jerome, supplemented Geoffrion's remarks. He denounced the case as a scandal to the Dominion and said it was incumbent on the court to "restore the county of St. Francis to its normal state."

"The appearance of a representative for the attorney general is a thunderbolt to us," said Mr. McKeown. "We should like to consult the law as to his right to appear."

"I sent for him," said the court curtly. "The issues here are plain. First, is this man illegally detained? Second, does Boudreau have a right to petition for the writ of habeas corpus? Both these questions are points of law, purely, and I see no reason for granting an adjournment."

Mr. McKeown tried to open the preliminary arguments again, but the court directed that he desist, and arguments to sustain the writ were begun by Mr. Jacobs.

Thaw sat on a lounge, nervously fingering his hat and taking notes. There was such a crush outside that men's coats were torn, hats were smashed and collars twisted. In the court house yard a loud-mouthed orator was haranguing the crowd and at intervals there were roars of "Three cheers for Thaw!" At times the din grew so loud that it was difficult to hear counsel speak.

CONGRESSMAN A LIFE SAVER

R. E. Lee Stops Runaway Horse at Pottsville.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 3.—Congressman R. E. Lee stopped a runaway horse, saving the lives of aged Henry Ferryman and his son, Warren, sixteen years old.

The horse, a fractious animal, attached to the Ferryman outfit, was frightened at a passing automobile. Ferryman got out and held the bridle. The horse bolted, with Ferryman holding to the checkrein.

Dragged by the runaway, he was in imminent danger of being crushed to death and his son was about to fall over the dashboard when the congressman rushed out and stopped the horse. Both Ferryman and Lee were badly bruised.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY AT ATLANTIC CITY STATION

Thief Stole $1800 While the Agents Handled Rush.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 3.—A daring thief pulled off the boldest daylight robbery ever known here getting away with $1800 in bills from the main ticket office of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad while the front of the windows was jammed with people and three men were working inside.

The money had been stacked upon the counter toward Arkansas avenue by Ticket Agent Chapman who had counted it out from the Labor Day receipts, preparatory to making a deposit in a local bank after he had finished handling the rush.

The robber must have carefully timed his haul. If a man had been at the Arkansas avenue window he would have been observed but he must have waited until Chapman and his two assistants had all worked to the front windows which hid him from them behind the ticket rack.

It is supposed that he quietly pushed open the door, which had been left a few inches ajar, grabbed the bills, stuffed them under his coat and then lost himself in the hundred or more persons crowded around the windows of the station.

Chapman discovered the loss a moment after the train had pulled out for Philadelphia. He immediately got into communication with the tower on the meadows and the train was stopped there and search made through three coaches for suspicious characters.

No trace was found and then the Philadelphia office was notified, so that detectives there would complete the search. Railroad and city detectives are making an investigation, but it looks as though the robber had planned his getaway as neatly as the haul.

KEEPING FOOD ALWAYS HOT

Modern Improvement is the Plate Warmer to Be Installed in the Butler's Pantry.

The problem of excluding kitchen sounds and odors from the living rooms has led to the installation in most houses of a serving room or butler's pantry. This in turn, has created another difficulty, that of keeping a meal hot and without loss of flavor in the interval of preparation and serving. This latter difficulty has, however, been obviated in a number of homes by the use of a hot closet or plate warmer in the butler's pantry. There are various ways of furnishing heat for this purpose—steam, gas or electricity. Electricity furnishes perhaps the simplest means of attaining this end, as it requires no special attention beyond the turning on or off of the key of the switch, and is free from odors and external heat.

A hot closet can be made useful in a number of ways—to keep savory a delayed luncheon or a bite to be taken before retiring and in taking care of babies' or invalids' food without danger of its deteriorating.

LOBSTER IN CUPS OF RICE

Really a Form of Curry, Though It Need Not Be Made as Hot as That Particular Dish.

Fill cups with warm boiled rice, pressing down close and firm. When cold, scoop out the middle of each cup, leaving a wall substantial enough to preserve its shape. Have ready a kettle of boiling fat, drop the cups in carefully and fry until brown. For the filling, put a tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan and when hot add a tablespoonful of minced onion. Cook until a light yellow, then add one tablespoonful of flour. As soon as frothy, pour in one cup of hot milk or water, a teaspoonful of curry powder and salt and pepper to season. If you use water instead of milk, a teaspoonful of lemon juice is an improvement. Cook until the mixture thickens, add one cupful of diced lobster, then fill into the cups and serve.

Salad Carcassone.

Mix together equal parts of white wine, vinegar and salad oil, season with a small quantity of moist sugar and a little salt and turn into a salad bowl. Throw into this some sprigs of watercress, and on these strew lightly the leaves of young nasturtiums, if they can be procured, with sufficient cress to fill the bowl. Toast this well and then turn the whole out onto a large dish. Arrange a wreath of nasturtium leaves around the edge of the dish, allowing them to overlap each other a trifle, then make an inner circle of the flowers and within that a circle of sliced hard boiled eggs. Serve before any of the fresh peas of the salad has gone. This is a salad especially suitable for afternoon parties of young people or like festive occasions.
